

Florida Department of Health in Pasco County Dietetic internship

UNF MS Degree Intent to Participate Form

One of the admission requirements for the Florida Department of Health in Pasco County Dietetic Internship is having a master's degree or higher from a U.S. accredited institution* or having a bachelor's degree from a U.S. accredited institution* plus agreement to complete the University of North Florida (UNF) MS in Nutrition and Dietetics concurrently with the internship.

Since the internship has a graduate level designation, we cannot provide a Dietetic Internship Verification Statement of Completion to interns without a graduate degree. Candidates agreeing to participate in the UNF graduate degree program should be aware that they must also earn their MS degree to meet the requirements for internship completion.

The "Intent to Participate Form" must be included in the application packet to identify candidates as either already having a master's degree or as intending to participate in the graduate program concurrently with the internship.

Information on the graduate program offered through UNF can be found in the "Important Documents" section of our website under "UNF MS Degree Information Sheet."
